NIJIMA ISLAND

Long sandy beaches, a range of bluffs, & rolling waves. Niijima is a scenic surfing haven and popular holiday spot easy to reach from Tokyo.

THE SENTO CULTURE

Sento are public baths, scattered throughout communities across Japan. Their inception can be traced back to the Heian period (794-1185), with the first public bath in Edo (now Tokyo) getting built in 1591. By 1968 there were over eighteen thousand sento across Japan, & that number has steadily continued to grow up to today.
